THE AUTHORS

Robert McClean is a Research Officer at the Waitangi Tribunal. Robert is of Irish, Scottish, and Croatian ancestry. Robert was born in Wellington and educated at Bishop Vaird College in Porirua. After spending five years in the plumbing industry, Robert attended Massey University between 1991 and 1997. He has a Bachelor of Resource and Environmental Planning (first class honours, Massey), and a Master of Philosophy in Geography (with distinction, Massey). Since being employed at the Waitangi Tribunal, Robert has completed research reports for the Wellington Tenth, Mohaka ki Ahuriri, Tauranga, and Hauraki inquiries. Robert lives in Newlands and is married to Kathrin. They have four children: Antonia, Mattea, Josef, and Stefan.

Trecia Smith is an Environmental Planner at the Wellington Regional Council. Trecia was employed as Research Officer at the Waitangi Tribunal on a short-term contract during 2000. Trecia was born and educated in Christchurch and holds a Bachelor of Resource Studies (first class honours) from Lincoln University. She has a keen interest in the environment and the natural world.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This report was produced under the guidance of Ben White, staff member of the Waitangi Tribunal. Ben White acted as the project manager for this and three other Wai 262 overview research reports. This task was not an easy one and the authors wish to thank Ben for his dedication and commitment in seeing the project to completion. Also, special thanks to Evaan Aramakutu, Grant Phillipson, Dominic Hurley, Morrie Love, Pam Wiki, Bronwyn Gibbs, Georgina Roberts and all the staff at the Waitangi Tribunal who have assisted the authors in the researching and writing of this project.

Thank you also to the Department of Conservation; the Department of Internal Affairs; ERMA New Zealand; the Foundation of Research, Science and Technology; Landcare Research; the Ministry of Economic Development; the Ministry for the Environment; the Ministry of Research, Science and Technology; the National Archives of New Zealand; the New Zealand Conservation Authority; the Parliamentary Commissioner for the Environment; and the State Services Commission.
